

Emotional Well-being Sermon Series - Sermon 1

Sermon Title: Human Worth and Well-being

Scripture text: Gen 1:26-28; Psalm 8

Note to leaders:

Some of the experiences shared by members during this sermon series may contain sensitive information. Do take some time to emphasize the importance of respect and confidentiality in the group before you start each session.

We pray that your small group will be a safe place for members to share and receive support.

The recommended time allocation for your group meeting is:

If you meet weekly :

- Worship through song (10 mins)
- Discussion - 1 session worth of core questions (40 mins)
- Discussion - 1 session worth of additional questions (30 mins)
- Sharing, Prayer, Fellowship (30 mins)

If you meet fortnightly :

- Worship through song (10 mins)
- Discussion - 2 sessions' worth of core questions (60 mins)
- Optional - additional questions (10 mins)
- Sharing, Prayer, Fellowship (30 mins)

Core Questions:

(If your group meets fortnightly, combine the "Core Questions" of two sessions and choose one "Further Questions" from either session.)

- 1) How does Psalm 8 shed light on the phrase "we are made in the Image of God"? In your opinion, what does it mean to be truly human? How is your understanding similar or different from what is presented in the sermon?

Background Note

The Image of God (Latin: imago Dei) is a phrase found several times in the book of Genesis (Gen 1:7–27; 5:1–3; 9:6). This phrase:

- Is applied only to humans and distinguishes humankind from the animal and plant kingdoms.
- Elevates humankind above all terrestrial created things so as to exercise benevolent and ethical stewardship (but not ownership) over creation.
- Indicates that humanity is, in some way, like God. The copy is like the original Creator in some way.
- Is found in the New Testament as part of the Christian's responsibility to imitate Christ, who is the image(r) of God par excellence.

Note also that:

- To “image” God means to “reflect” God in creation.
- “Image” and “likeness” are largely synonymous.
- The imago Dei includes all human persons.
- There is no hint that humanity grows into the image, or develops the image. There is no “potential” image of God.
- Nothing suggests that the image has been or can be bestowed incrementally or partially. There is no “partial” image.
- Nevertheless, sin has affected the image in some way. This means the image, while present, is marred by the Fall and stands in need of restoration.

Imago Dei: Structural aspect

- A set of capacities which characterize human beings and reflects the divine being in some way, most commonly, our capacity for rational thought, volitional will, sentience, and communicative or linguistic ability.
- The Structural aspect does not stand alone. For not all these capacities are present among all human beings at all times (e.g. infants, mentally-ill persons, persons in vegetative states). These capacities are also not unique to human beings (e.g. higher primates also display intelligence, emotions, and communicative abilities).

Imago Dei: Functional aspect

- This is grounded in Gen 1:26–28. Human beings are portrayed as God's representatives, tasked with stewarding God's creation. This view means that all human endeavor and enterprise has spiritual meaning—work is a spiritual exercise.
- Again, the Functional aspect cannot stand alone. For not all human beings have the capacity to undertake these tasks of stewardship at all times.

Imago Dei: Relational aspect

- This recognises that human beings relate to God, to one another, and to creation in a way that is unique among all creation. This aspect also recognises the inherent relationality within the Persons of the Holy Trinity, a relationality which is in some sense “imaged” in humanity.

- excerpted and adapted from Lexham Bible Dictionary (Lexham Press: 2016), and Marc Cortez, Theological Anthropology: A Guide for the Perplexed (Bloomsbury T&T Clark: 2010).

2) How does this biblical truth (i.e. humans are bearers of God's image) impact your understanding of human well-being? How does this biblical picture impact the way you act for your own well-being and for the well-being of others?

“The brain-centred understanding of mental illness can be reductive in the sense that it fails to take into consideration the emotional and social aspects of the individual. This approach tends to reduce our ‘humanity’ – our beliefs, aspirations and values – to the integrity (or lack thereof) of the frontal lobe, that aspect of our neural anatomy that distinguishes us from other animals. Thus, although there is a profound relationship between brain function and our mental and emotional health, we must resist the temptation to reduce people to their brains in our attempt to understand mental illness.”

- Dr Roland Chia, “Darkness Has Become My Companion: Some Reflections on Mental Illness” (<https://ethosinstitute.sg/darkness-has-become-my-companion/>), emphasis added.

- 3) Do you know of someone with mental health concerns? Or perhaps you may have some personal experiences. What is your perception and attitude towards mental health concerns? What has changed for you after this bible study? Share your experiences or observations with the group.

Recent Singapore Studies

“The second Singapore Mental Health Study (SMHS) – a nationwide, cross-sectional, epidemiological survey - was initiated in 2016 with the intent of tracking the state of mental health of the general population in Singapore. The lifetime prevalence of at least one mood, anxiety or alcohol use disorder was 13.9% in the adult population... The SMHS 2010 showed lifetime prevalence as 12.0%”.

- Subramaniam, et al., "Tracking the Mental Health of a Nation: Prevalence and Correlates of Mental Disorders in the Second Singapore Mental Health Study." Epidemiology and Psychiatric Sciences 29 (2020)

“..a recent study that looked at more than 1,000 Gen Zers aged 18 to 24 in the Asia-Pacific region, including Singapore, found that they faced the highest levels of stress compared with other generations”.

<https://www.todayonline.com/singapore/gen-z-faces-different-forms-stress-may-be-more-anxious-depressed-others-them-says-imh-ceo>

Further Questions:

(Optional question for discussion if time permits. Do allocate adequate time for prayer and fellowship.)

4) What is one small step you or your small group can take to prepare towards the increased prevalence of mental health concerns globally and in Singapore?*Upcoming BRMC Webinars on Mental Illness:

Seminar 1: Thu, April 22, 2021, 8pm
"Mental Health and the Christian"

Seminar 2: Thu, April 29, 2021, 8pm
"Ministering to the Mentally Ill"

Format:
Online via Zoom. 90 minutes of talk followed by Q&A.

For more information and registration, visit:
<https://brmcsg.churchcenter.com/registrations/events/789284>

Suggestions for Prayer:

- 1) How has the knowledge and reality of being made in the Image of God impacted you? Take this time to talk to God about it. Allow the Holy Spirit to work in you as you experience being truly human.
- 2) Pray for yourself or someone you know of/heard of who is experiencing mental health concerns.
  - Pray for the well-being of the person(s), for the shalom of God to fill their hearts and minds.
  - Pray for God's divine healing and restoration.
  - Pray also for a supportive community to surround and love them.
- 3) Pray for yourself and people in your group:

God is gracious and compassionate towards us. There is no shame in acknowledging our weaknesses and limitations before our Heavenly Father.

- Are there barriers that might be preventing you from showing Christian love towards a person with mental health concerns e.g. fears, negative past experiences, lack of understanding? Commit these concerns to God and ask for His divine help to remove any barrier.